GOULD WINS OVER MEXICO, 40-26

Gould won its third straight victory Tuesday by downing the Mexico Pintos 40-26. The Huskies took a 11-6 lead in the first period but the visitors came back strong in the second period to tie up the score and assume a brief lead. Just before the half ended the home rallied to assume a 23-20 lead.

The third period told the story as the visitors were held to two points while the "Blue and Gold" added eight points to make the score 31-22 as the club settled down for the final stanza. Jerry Davis came through with 11 points during the last half and Mexico just couldn't get back into the ball game.

The tension was terrific through most of the game, with both teams playing below par. Gould's defense was especially good in the later periods and Mexico missed many chances at the basket as their shots were hurried.

Davis and Young led the scoring with 13 and 10 points each, while Foster played brilliantly in the back court. Louis Wood had command of the back boards in the last half after a rather bad start in the first half. Bennett has gained valuable experience in these games and looks like he will work in well with the other starter.

Mexico's two guards B Fraser and Vienneau led the Pintos scoring with 6 and 5 points respectively. The J.V.'s won a neat victory in the preliminary 29 to 18. Kendall with 13 points and Lowell with 8 played nice ball.

GOULD COPS THRILLER AT ROCKLAND, 38-33

In a game that was keyed to the highest pitch, Gould Academy came through in the last minute and 50 seconds with the clinching baskets that gave them a well earned victory over Rockland. The score was tied or the lead changed hands a dozen or more times during the game. Rockland led at the start but the "Blue and Gold" overcame the lead and assumed an 8-7 advantage at the end of the first period.

The second period was the home team's best as they scored 14 to 10 for the Huskies, giving them a 21-18 lead at the half.

The tempo of the game speeded up in the third stanza as Rockland played a hard "man to man" defense all over the floor but Gould's superb defense kept them scoreless from the floor for the entire period. Only two free throws for the losers gave them 23 points at the three quarter mark. The winners tallied only eight points in the tight defensive battle but it did give them a 27-23 lead.

Early in the fourth quarter Rockland rallied and when the referees time out was called with three minutes to go the score stood 29-23. A quick basket by Murgita sent Rockland ahead as the crowd went wild; but Young dumped a one-handed second later to tie up the score. Rockland got a free throw to again lead but Bennett tied it up after he was fouled. With a minute and 50 seconds to go the lid was off and in quick succession first Foster shot a beauty and then Davis came through with two to clinch the victory. Murgita tallied again from the foul line to make the final count 38-33.

The entire Gould team played well, with Jerry Davis leading the scoring. Captain Dave Foster deserves much credit for one of his best played games as he seemed to be the steady influence throughout the ball game.

BETHEL PLAYERS PREPARE FOR DEBUT

Because of conflicting bookings for the Community Room the meeting of the Pine Tree State's newest dramatic club, scheduled for Wednesday evening, was held on Monday evening, instead with an attendance of 23.

This excellent showing was made possible largely by the energy and enthusiasm of vice-president Dale Thurston and treasurer Carolyn Bryant who devoted the greater part of the day informing members and friends of the necessary change in plans.

With no dissention and very little discussion a constitution and set of by-laws, as promulgated by the committee named for that purpose, was adopted and the title "Bethel Players" decided upon with surprising promptness and unanimity.

Several plays were outlined by the vice-president and tentative selection made of one with tremendous possibilities of box office appeal as well as high entertainment and amusement value. Final decision, however, awaits clarification of royalty payment terms and minor production details.

President Gilnes selected Mrs.
Helen Dyer to head the important play reading committee and placed Richard Bryant in charge of stage production details. Announcement of other appointments awaits notification of and acceptance by nominees.

Coffee and cake was served by the refreshment committee.

Exceptional progress has been made in organization and a comprehensive working program will be launched at the next meeting after the Christmas holidays. The exact date, time and place will be announced later.

There are those who can help by their talent to act, advise, work or boost. All such are invited to affiliate with this organization for mutual benefit through fellowship and service.

and Mrs. Christie.

Low water on our lakes and rivers has raised this question...

Can Central Maine Power Company continue to furnish electric power to its regular customers during the winter months without restriction?

While this is by far the most important question being asked today by our customers, it is only one of many as the people of Maine have come to a full realization of the possible effect of the drought. We want you to have all of the answers to all of the questions pertaining to electric power in the area served by this Company and we are taking this method of providing you with this information.

Q. What is the cause of low water?

A. Rainfall on the State's major watersheds from August to the November snow storms was 60% less than normal. Snowfall, while helpful, does not have the immediate effect of rain.

Q. How does this lack of rainfall affect the Company's power supply?

A. Normally, at this time of year, approximately 80% of the Company's power would be produced by water. Under present conditions this has been reduced to less than 45%.

Q. Does CMPCo. depend entirely upon the amount of water in our lakes and rivers for its supply of power?

A. No. Over the years the Company has built or acquired six steam plants which supplement and "back up" its supply of hydro electric power. Only last October a new 20,000 kilowatt steam unit was put in operation at Wiscasset, doubling the capacity of that plant.

Q. Should the Company maintain facilities to meet a situation which may occur only once in a lifetime?

A. No. To equip itself to meet an extreme drought which may not occur for another hundred years would bring a permanent increase in cost of electric service to the customer; an increase which the Company feels would not be warranted.

Q. Do the industrial plants in your territory buy all of their power from your Company?

A. No. Certain industries having their own power plants have also been affected by the drought. The Company is doing everything possible to assist these industries in maintaining their production and employment.

Q. What can your customers do to help?

A. Already some of our largest industrial customers have given important assistance by rearrangement of work schedules with the cooperation of their employees and by reduction of load. Further cooperation along these lines may be requested.

It may become necessary for the Company to ask similar cooperation from all its customers even though the saving may be small.

Q. What steps is CMPCo. taking to provide additional power to meet the situation?

A. In addition to running all its own plants, a floating power plant has been obtained through the cooperation of the U. S. Navy; the Company is purchasing power from other outside sources which have been made available, and two generating units are now on their way to Rockland for installation.

Q. When can relief from low water conditions be expected?

A. No permanent relief can be expected until the Spring "run-off" when Spring rains and melting ice and snow usually fill our lakes and streams. Some temporary relief could come with a heavy rain or "long thaw."

Q. Would daylight saving time conserve electricity?

A. A careful study by the Company's engineers indicates that no saving would be accomplished by this method in our territory at this time.

The sum of all these questions and answers brings us back to the original question, "Can Central Maine Power Company continue to furnish electric power to its regular customers during the winter months without restriction?"

Here's the Answer: With continued cooperation from our industrial customers and the utilization of all sources of power available in our territory, the Company hopes to continue normal service as it has up to now. However, the power situation is acute. You will be given as prompt notice as possible if restrictions become necessary.

THE AMERICAN WAY

BUMPTIOUS
BUREAUCRACY

By George Pack

Every union worker, every non-union worker, has cause to rejoice at a recent decision of the Tax Court in the case of the Treasury Department vs. the Lincoln Electric Company of Cleveland, Ohio. Justice, after hanging for years in the balance, has at long last been done. The rights of workers as guaranteed to them by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights have been affirmed.

It has ever been "The American Way" to reward a worker adequately for the quality and quantity of what he produced or the efficiency and dispatch of the service he rendered. There never has been a calling as to how much an American worker could be paid, and pray God there never will be.

But back in 1942, an official of Uncle Sam's government tried to interrupt this orderly procedure. The Treasury Department pounced on the Lincoln Electric Co., demanding $1,479,000 in additional taxes because that corporation had paid its 1,800 employees too much in wages. It seems the great sin committed by the Lincoln Electric Co. was that it had been paying its workers an average of $5,400 a year.

The Treasury Agent in charge of this persecution of the Lincoln Electric Co. asserted: "A man who works with his hands shouldn't be paid as much as $5,000 a year." Now, please bear in mind that this amazing statement was not made by an official of Soviet Russia or Hitler's Germany, but by an accredited representative of Uncle Sam's government.

Because James F. Lincoln, President of the Lincoln Electric Co., believes that "a worker is worthy of his hire," is worth all he can earn, that is why for the past 14 years he has paid his workers, who are really his partners, up to $8,000 a year. And it hasn't been philanthropy, or just a boss trying to be nice to his men—it's been darn good business. During the first ten years due to the incentive system which he installed, the dollar production per worker rose from $5,000 to $28,000 per year.

This enabled Jim to pay the Lincoln workers larger wages and also during the same period to cut the price of a welding machine (that's what they make at the Lincoln Electric Company) from $600 to $200. The funny part of all this, is that Uncle Sam was probably the greatest beneficiary of the Lincoln incentive system, because during the war the efficiency engendered by that system saved the United States government over 100 million dollars.

Your correspondent happened to be present at Washington when Jim Lincoln testified before the House Ways and Means Committee, holding hearings on renegotiations of war contracts. Though it was four years ago, I can still see and hear him, as with righteous indignation he stormed before the Committee and told its members he had come to Washington to find out just how much less efficient his company must become, so that it would not be penalized by the very government it was serving so well. No one on the Committee seemed to be able to answer that question.

And that is exactly what the bumptious official of the Treasury Department was endeavoring to do—to penalize the Lincoln Co. for its efficiency—the efficiency which raised workers' wages and lowered the cost of its product to buyers, the greatest of which at that particular time was Uncle Sam himself.

But, the bureaucratic belittler of the prowess and worth of American workers has now been relegated to his proper place—the long battle fought by the Lincoln Electric Company through the courts in behalf of its employees, and incidentally, of employees of all companies, has been won. The Tax Court has ruled that even though a fellow does work with his hands, he can be paid as much as he is worth—with no penalty to the boss who has the good sense and decent-

CAPITOL STUFF

by Governor Horace Hildreth
Augusta, Dec. 10—I believe it is of great importance to the future of this State to set at rest any doubts as to the general economic health of our State despite the recent tragic forest fires.

The industrial heart of Maine didn't even skip a beat. And the "heart of Maine" reference is not limited to any specific location in the State, but to the overall industrial picture. I know of only three established industries that were lost in all the fires, and only one of these employed as many as 100 persons. Maine people have reason to be thankful that so few sources of income were destroyed or damaged.

With respect to the State's recreational business, there were very few instances of loss of property that will affect the tourist and vacation trade next year. Losses of some fine summer homes in the Bar Harbor area were heavy to the individual owners, of course. The same is true in the Kennebunkport area. Less than one per cent of our forest resources were destroyed.

We have suffered enough in Maine without having our economic future penalized by exaggerated reports and misrepresentations made without reference to our untouched assets. Next year, the year after, and for years after you and I are gone, we can give him a reward commensurate with his performance.

Maine, both because of its natural assets and the character of its people, will continue to be a good place to work, to live, and the "Land of Remembered Vacations."

Let's not have the Christmas season in Maine marred by tragic accidents this year. We hope to make the holiday season accident free. Our State Police, Insurance and Education Departments are cooperating to do all in their power to impress on our children the tragedy that can result from carelessness.

Don't let death take your holiday. Winter is hazardous. Use caution and make Christmas this year a season of joy and happiness. Unless there are unforeseen difficulties, virtually all of the metal buildings being erected as temporary shelters in the fire areas, will be completed before Christmas. This will include the installation of heating and cooking stoves and furniture. According to Red Cross, the erection of these buildings and installation of the necessary partitions, floors and utilities and insulation represents a cost of more than $3,000 per unit. All costs are borne by Red Cross.

5 More Days to See Santa Claus

Hanover, Maine
Dec. 16, 1947

Dear Children,

Old Santa has been pretty busy the past few days especially yesterday when two bus loads of Bethel school children arrived with 100 aboard and I don't know when I have seen so many well behaved children at one time. There was no pushing or shoving—every one came up—told me his or her name—what they wanted for Christmas—thanked me very nicely for the present I gave them—went down stairs and sang songs while I was talking to the rest of their playmates.

There are only a few more days left for you children to come up here and see me or at least write to me. I would like to see or hear from every one of you before Christmas so please try to make it.

If I don't hear or see you just be good and I won't forget you when I make my trip on the night before Christmas.

Sincerely,
SANTA CLAUS

... on less fuel oil

SAVING fuel oil means more than saving money. Because of the unprecedented demand there will not be enough fuel oil to fill your normal demands this winter. If we should get severe cold weather many fuel users may have to get along on substantially less fuel oil than last year, in spite of everything the petroleum industry is doing to relieve the situation.

The oil industry is delivering products in greater quantity than ever before—at a rate estimated to be nearly 33% greater than 1941—the greatest prewar year. Even greater quantities will be delivered when the bottleneck of materials needed for new plants, pipe lines, tankers and tank cars, has been broken.

Although there will be enough fuel oil to meet requirements for the next few weeks, the critical period will come later. Every gallon you can save now may help keep your home warm next January and February.

Take these sensible steps NOW to save fuel oil - keep your home WARM this winter.

- 1 Don't overheat the house. High daytime temperatures waste oil—are unhealthy too. Never set your thermostat higher than 70°... and when night-time comes, by all means shove the 'stat down. If you set your 'stat' for 60° at night (for 8 hours)—instead of leaving it at 70°—you will save 24% on your fuel oil bill.
- 2 Have your oil burner cleaned and adjusted. Good combustion depends on the proper regulation of the air-oil mixture. Call your burner service man now to check the burner and make sure it is properly adjusted for maximum efficiency. Correct setting of your burner can save up to 10% in fuel oil consumption.
- 3 Keep the heat indoors. Keeping heat inside your house is the first step in reducing heat loss. Weather stripping reduces heat leaks; minimizes drafts. Insulation reduces heat transfer through walls, roof and floors. Insulation of walls and attic can reduce fuel oil consumption 30% to 40%. Well-fitting storm doors and windows help to check the cooling effect of glass. Storm windows can save 60% of heat loss through glass.
- 4 A little thing makes big savings. Not all economy measures are obvious, so look around! Shut rooms you don't use. Close fire-place dampers. Close doors promptly. Turn off heat when you ventilate rooms. Make sure radiator valves are opened at regular intervals to let out air and prevent heat clogging. And remember—don't overheat your house.

GLORIA IN EXCELSIS DEO

WHEN Mary and Joseph undertook their memorable journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem nearly two thousand years ago, Palestine was a peaceful and reasonably prosperous country. But the heart of Israel was filled with longing and uneasiness; longing for the Messiah who, according to the prophets, the Lord had promised His chosen people; the Messiah who would deliver them from their trials and tribulations—even as Moses had led their forefathers out of the bondage of Egypt.

And now it came to pass that Caesar Augustus had decided all the world should be taxed and every man should be enrolled, each in his native city. And it happened that Joseph, who lived in Nazareth, was a native of Bethlehem. In those days, there was no macadam highway leading from the Galilean hillside into Bethlehem, the city of David which nestled in the blue-green mountains south of Jerusalem, and under ideal conditions Bethlehem was several days' journey from Nazareth.

So, Mary and Joseph started for Bethlehem about the middle of December. They carried a little food with them for emergencies, a little extra clothing and some bedding. They traveled very slowly because of Mary—and when she was too tired to walk another step, Joseph took the packs upon his shoulders so Mary might ride the little donkey which trudged faithfully at his side.

THE little village of Bethlehem was about six miles from Jerusalem. Those last six miles were the longest and hardest for Mary; the mountain trail was steep and treacherous, the atmosphere was lighter than the travelers from Galilee were accustomed to, and they were very tired and travel-weary when they reached Bethlehem, the city of David where Joseph's ancestor King David had ruled fourteen generations before Augustus and his census. It was early evening, but the inn was already crowded beyond its normal capacity with census-bound travelers; not even a corner was available where Joseph could have spread a bed for Mary.

In desperation Joseph pleaded from door to door and with those whom he passed as he raced through the narrow streets of Bethlehem in search of shelter. Finally, someone directed him to a stable which was really a cave hewn into the rocky ledge of the mountainside. The stable to which Joseph led Mary was well supplied with clean straw; and Mary was grateful for shelter and privacy; it was Holy Night.

There was no room at the inn that night, but over in Shepherd's field, about two miles south of Bethlehem, several Shepherds were keeping the "night watch" over their flocks when suddenly a great blaze of light appeared in the sky and seemed to descend upon the countryside. The Shepherds were very frightened and, devout men that they were, they called upon God to help them. When they raised their eyes from supplication, the glory of the Lord shone all around them and an angel stood in their midst assuring them there was nothing to fear.

"For, Behold, I bring you glad tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you, Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger." And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

THE Shepherds hurried to Bethlehem, there to find the infant asleep in the manger—even as it had been foretold unto them. His "Stable" was filled with a heavenly radiance, and, having worshipped the Child, the Shepherds were filled with a wondrous feeling of peace. And the Shepherds wondered and told others concerning those things which they had seen and heard.

Several days later, a richly appointed caravan wove its way through the crooked streets of Bethlehem bearing Wise Men from the east who, following the Star of Bethlehem which they had seen from afar, had come to adore the new-born King. And the Star led them, until it came and stood over the manger where the Child was.

The Wise Men rejoiced when they saw the Holy Infant lying in the manger and they adored Him. They ordered gifts to be brought from their caravan: gifts symbolic of what Jesus was to become—gold for a king, myrrh for a great physician, frankincense for a high priest. All Bethlehem crowded around—awe-struck and curious; but Mary pondered all these things in her heart and watched over the Child with great diligence.

And that is the way it came to pass that Jesus was born in Bethlehem; it could not have come to pass in any other way. Before the sacred manger all men are equal and only from a lowly stable could the Saviour draw unto Himself all who are weary and heavy-laden. And truly only the heavenly host could praise God that first Christmas night:

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

—Dorothea Wallmann.

CHANGE A FUSE

KEEP a flashlight at top of steps, so you won't stumble. Using your flashlight, examine each fuse to locate "dead" one. When you replace a burned-out fuse, touch only its rim. Never use a coin instead of a fuse. Always have good fuses on hand. To test a fuse, use an "Eveready" battery, a bulb (or bulb assembly), and wire—as shown. If fuse is good, bulb will light.

Proof!...in the laboratory, in your own flashlight...
'EVEREADY' BATTERIES
OUTLAST ALL OTHER BRANDS!

Brighter light, longer life! That's what you get with "Eveready" brand batteries. Laboratory tests prove it. And the best "lab" of all—your flashlight—proves it. That's why "Eveready" batteries outlast all other brands—because they outlast all other brands!

The registered trademark "Eveready" distinguishes products of NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC., 30 East 42nd Street, New York 17, N. Y.
